Helen, GA Mountain Trip

In lieu of our Tail of the Dragon mountain trip this year we'll be heading the Bavarian Style village of Helen, Georgia. Helen is nestled in the mountains along the Chattahoochee River.

We'll depart the lowcountry on Friday (Orangeburg exit) and travel to Helen arriving in the charming town with enough time to enjoy some of the local shops or some river activities. We'll be arranging for a Friday and Saturday night dinner location, hopefully with some German flavors involved. Of course you are welcome to dine where ever you like.

Saturday we'll take an approximately 1 – ½ hour drive through the Chattahoochee National Forest en route to Wolf Mountain Vineyards. At the Vineyards, owned and operated by a PCA member, we'll enjoy a tour and tasting starting at 11 am followed by lunch at the Vineyard. We will then travel back to Helen. You will then have the afternoon to relax, enjoy some more shopping or river activities. There are also several other wineries in the Helen area that you can visit.

Trip particulars:

Host Hotel: The Country Inn and Suites by Carlson (706) 878-9000

Room Rates: $109 p/night (1st night deposit required w/rsvp)

Rooms will be held at this special rate till May 21, 2013.

After this date the lower rate and room is not guaranteed.

There are currently 8 rooms still available at the discounted rate.

GERMAN RECIPE

Sour Cream Salad Dressing with Variations

(By: Jennifer mcGavin, About.com-German Foods)

This salad dressing recipe goes together quickly from ingredients you have in your pantry. Try it and you won't ever run out of salad dressing again. It is also lower in fat than commercial dressings and has no added sugar.

Prep Time: 5 mins. Total Time: 5 mins. Serves: 4 (about ½ salad dressing)

Ingredients:

½ c. sour cream	2 T. water, milk, or club soda
¼ tsp. freshly ground pepper	¼ tsp. dried oregano
2 T. minced red onion (optional)	¼ tsp. chili powder (option #2)
Dash cayenne pepper (option #2)	1 tsp. med sharp mustard (option #3)

Preparation:

Thin sour cream with water or milk to dressing consistency.

Option #1: Add broth powder (bouillion), pepper, and oregano, crushed between your fingers, and mix well. Add onion if you like. Make sure they are finely minced.

Option#2: Add in chili powder and cayenne pepper to #1. Mix well.

Option#3: Add mustard instead of chili powder.

Serve chilled.

Serving suggestions:

- iceberg lettuce and tomato salad
- with cherry tomatoes and carrot sticks as a dip
- as a sauce for meat fondue (Fleischfondue)
- on a shredded carrot salad
- as a dressing for a Waldorf-style salad
- as a topping for boiled or baked potatoes.

Washing your Car

By Wayne Dempsey

http://www.pelicanparts.com/techarticles/Porsche-996-997-Carrera/06-BASIC-Washing_Your_Car/06-BASIC-Washing_Your_Car.htm

One of the most basic maintenance tasks for your car is cleaning it. While this includes the art of washing your Porsche, it also includes the reconditioning and protection of both the exterior paint and chrome and the interior.

The first step in washing your car is to determine exactly what it needs. If the car is simply dusty and has been sitting in the garage, then you probably only need to wash it with plain water (no soap). Wet the car down and use a wash mitt to remove any dust that might have settled on the car inside the garage. When washing the car, remember to get the valance panels and the lower rockers. As these panels are closest to the ground, they have a tendency to get the dirtiest.

I don't recommend using a chamois to dry your car. The chamois can trap small particles of dirt in its porous material and can actually cause scratches in the surface of the paint when it's used to dry off the car. A really good alternative is 100 percent cotton terry towels. Make sure the towels have been washed at least once, and don't use a rinse or softener. The softener is an additive that can cause streaks, and it inhibits the towel's absorbency.

If your car suffers from more than simple dust accumulation, then you will need to use a bit of car wash soap. Make sure that you don't use normal household soap or detergent, as this will remove the wax from the surface of the paint. As the wax is oil-based, normal detergents will attack and remove it. The car wash soaps are very mild and shouldn't remove the layer of wax that you have on your car.

Rinse the car completely with water from a hose, taking care not to spray the water in any areas where your seals may be cracking. If your 911 is a few years old, the overall watertight seal of the interior may not be as solid as desired. If your car does leak water, then toss some towels inside the car near the windows or under the sunroof to make sure that you catch any water before it reaches the carpet and seats.

After the car is completely rinsed, start drying it immediately. The new thing for drying cars has become the use of blowing the excess water of the car with a ShopVac on reverse or a leaf blower. While these are both fine remember, if you use a ShopVac in blower mode, make sure the filter is clean or you will just end up washing your car again, and if you are using a leaf blower that is gas powered make sure it does not vent its exhaust gases out through the blower nozzle.

It's best to dry the car off out of the reach of sunlight. Pull the car into the garage and dry it off in there. Removing the car from the sun helps keep those ugly water spots from appearing.

Spring Spin Off Car Show - Trident Tech

Hello Porsche friends. Spring is here and that means car show time!!!

I love seeing this season arrive but WOW does my life get busy this time of year. As some of you know I am vice chairman for Trident Technical College's Automotive Advisory Board and chairman for the school's newly founded Spring Spin Off Car Show committee. I am very proud that this year marks our 21st show. Now the Spring Spin Off title isn't just a catchy name, it actually once had meaning.

When our show first began there were significantly fewer car show activities and almost none in the winter. The Spin Off once signaled the beginning of the car show season and is an "open" show where any type of car or truck is welcome. After our show the individual clubs would begin hosting their make and/or model specific events. Fast forward to today and there are multiple events almost every weekend.

All proceeds from TTC's show fund the Athell Yon Scholarship. This scholarship was created to assist qualifying students desiring a career in the automotive and/or truck repair industries. As an automotive professional and contributing author of the scholarship I can tell you that this scholarship is very unique and has helped many students prepare for their automotive careers.

TTC's show celebrates the diversity of the automobile. You never know what you're going to see. Last year a home built truck was entered that had previously made the cover of Hot Rod magazine. And mixed among the mind blowing restorations are daily drivers, unfinished projects, all-originals with wear and patina, off roaders and, well, whatever! I have always stated that if an enthusiast owns and loves a Yugo then I want it in our show. We've even had boats, machinery and farm equipment!

People often say to me "My car isn't a show car". GOOD NEWS! As previously stated the majority of cars in our show aren't show cars either. In fact Jennifer Mills bone stock daily driven 911 has taken home a trophy every year it has entered including the year there wasn't even a Porsche class. Why was there once no Porsche class? Because the P car was once seldom seen at our show. In fact there were once so few imports that they were all lumped into one class. But thanks to the outpouring of support from PCA Palmetto the P car count has tremendously increased. Now let's get the Porsche count to surpass the Corvettes!

Cars can be registered the day of the event or pre-register by mail or online. I encourage you to pre-register if you can. Not only do you save 5 bucks but it allows me to reserve parking for us as a club. The registration link is on the PCA calendar on show day - April 27th.

Will Jennifer get yet another trophy?? Let's all go see, or should I say "Let's all go try and take it from her!"

I hope to see you there!

David Terry

My name is David Terry and I'm quite a late comer to the Porsche brand. I originally started looking at 911's around 20 years ago shortly after moving to the US from England. I started researching which led me to what I think was a Bruce Anderson book that had an Arena Red 993 on the cover. That still remains one of my favorite street Porsches. I decided that I couldn't really swing the kind of car I wanted financially so I ended up going the two wheel route and buying a Ducati motorcycle. That got me diverted from the four wheel scene for a while as I started doing track days on the bike, progressed to club racing with a series of Hondas and Suzuki's. I did get a ride in a race prepped Porsche GT3 at VIR when I was there coaching one weekend at the Patriot course. I was amazed at the corner speed and how late you could brake compared to my 750 race bike. Around 2005 I started looking at fun cars again and had a Cobra replica built, lots of fun. Had a Roushe 502r racing engine put in it, but very impractical. My fiancée, now my wife, kept burning her legs on the side exhaust pipes, so at this point in my life having figured out "happy wife = happy life" started thinking about a more practical, but still fun car. I had the Cobra up for sale, when a guy called me from Kansas, who turned out to be a Porsche dealer. Well, this seemed like fate, so we worked out a deal and one day a transporter arrived with my new 997.1 S Cabriolet, and left with the Cobra. The neighbors were I think happier than me, that Cobra was loud. I did a couple of track days with a group of folks that rented out the Talledega track, but when the guy I was following spun out in T1 and ended up going through a bank of trees into a river (thankfully the right way up, it was also the passengers first ever time on the track as well) I decided to stick to the road. I started looking at the 997 GTS, and Baker had one that I nearly pulled the trigger on but I really wanted PDK. I got a call from Lee Clagett, a really good guy at Baker, about the 991s they had. Went up there with my wife, took a test drive over the bridge and back. I know PDK is one of those controversial subjects, especially now since the 991 GT3 does not even have a manual option, but my mind was set when I hit the sport plus button, and floored the gas peddle, wow, and what I loved even more was the rev matching and burbling sound on down shifts. So, thats how I ended up with the car that y'all designed, thank you very much for your excellent taste! I did a PCA track day just before Christmas at Roeboling road and had a blast. Would love to figure out a way to get a track dedicated Porsche, I'm working with my wife/CFO to get her to go ahead! I had Autometrics install H&R springs to close the gap in the wheel wells and I have 7mm spacers on the front, 15mm on the rear. Pleasant details did the Expel film on the front half of the car, tinted it, and did the solar protection on the wind screen. They also Hydro dipped the front spoiler for a carbon fiber effect. Both companies did great work. I'm doing a couple of other cosmetic things, to me the rear looks a bit cluttered with all the lettering, so I'm going to simplify that, probably by replacing the Carrera 911s line with just 911s. I have a carbon fiber replacement for the rear plastic diffuser on order, and I'm considering having the exhaust tips ceramic coated in matt black. If anyone know a company that can do this locally I would love to hear from you. Anyway, I've gone on too long. I look forward to meeting more of you at Palmetto region events and cars and coffee.

A Pleasant Day with Pleasant Details

By Jennifer Mills

Saturday, March 16 was one of those wonderful spring days where it's still a little cool in the air and the pollen has started flying. We started the morning at the Cars & Coffee Gathering in Brookgreen Town Center. I counted 30+ Porsches! It was nice to see the Club Car – the Blue 991 we ordered at Baker – in attendance. There was a nice range of years and models from the '69 Silver 911 to an 80's blue 930 and Dr. Bob's manual shift Cayenne. As the morning wrapped up, we enjoyed the short drive to Pleasant Detail's shop on Daniel Island. John and his staff welcomed us with open arms. We learned about some new detailing products, vehicle wraps, and the hydrographics custom graphic decorating. Wow – the rims on that GTR were cool! We enjoyed seeing Hank's GT3RS and trailer with new graphics as well as the 996 Turbo that they have re-freshed. After a nice lunch, we continued to wonder the shop and parking lot brainstorming on what can be done to our cars.

Thank you to Richard Boxx for coordinating this for the Club. And a BIG THANK YOU to Pleasant Details for their continued support of the Palmetto Region!

Johns Island/James Island Gimmick Rally

By Jennifer Mills

In the rain on March 23, a group enjoyed the back roads of Johns and James Islands thanks to Josh Stolarz's rally planning. There were multiple routes so you encountered cars going different directions than you, not knowing who was correct or off route. As we arrived at our lunch location, the theories began about who was off the designated path. Victor and Katherine admitted lost status early and started enjoying the basketball games and drinks with Josh before the rest arrived. Congrats to the winners: Teams Mills, Porter, and Dasen. No one got the trick tie breaker question: how many cylinders does a Porsche Type 912 have? Do you know? THANKS to Josh for exposing us to new roads and a great meal at Smoky Oak Taproom!

When carving your niche, use the sharpest instrument available.

Find the thrills you never thought possible. The ones found deep in the curves of the road. Come join us as we show how the redesigned Cayman takes precision, agility, and balance to a whole new level. Not to mention a whole new level of excitement. Drinks and hors d'oeuvres will be served.

Final Thoughts from the Prez...

Happy Spring! I'm sure the concours cleaners in the group hate this time of year with the pollen in the air. I know my black car is an odd shade of green right now due to the yellow haze! We had a couple of fun events in March. Looking forward, I hope to see you at the April Social to be held at Baker. The plan is to order a Club Cayman. Are you ready to vote for the color, options, etc that you think the car should have? While the car we order won't be here in time, have you signed up your current P-car for the Trident Tech Car Show on April 27? We will have a Porsche class. Please shine and show your car for this worthy cause. And speaking of Car Shows, 2 weeks later is the May 11 Porsche vs. Corvette Challenge at the Veteran's Victory House Car Show in Walterboro. Again, another shine and show for a worthy cause. One more action required event: make your hotel reservation for the Mountain Trip to Helen, GA June 21-23. This is the weekend AFTER Father's Day, so you can keep the family happy and still play with your P-car! See you soon!
